About The Conference

The Oxford Stuttering and Cluttering Conference (formerly The Oxford Dysfluency Conference) has a reputation as one of the leading international scientific conferences in the field of dysfluency.

The conference brings together researchers and clinicians, providing a showcase and forum for discussion and collegial debate about the most current and innovative research and clinical practices.

Throughout the history of the conference, the primary aim has been to bridge the gap between research and clinical practice.

The conference seeks to promote research that informs management, with interventions that are supported by sound theory and which inform future research.

Conference Topics

- Conceptualizing stuttering
- Genetics and Neurophysiology
- More than speech
- Cluttering and acquired stuttering
- Advancing clinical practice through research
